Part X - FIN 48 Footnote

The current year audited financial statements have not yet been released.

Following is the footnote from the prior year audited financial statements-

The Authority is a governmental entity and has been recognized as tax-exempt under the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, no provision for income taxes has been provided.

SCHPG and SCEP are not-for-profit organizations that have been recognized as tax-exempt pursuant to Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

SCHPG and SCEP apply accounting policies that prescribe when to recognize and how to measure the financial statement effects of income tax positions taken or expected to be taken on its income tax returns. These rules require management to evaluate the likelihood that, upon examination by the relevant taxing jurisdictions, those income tax positions would be sustained. Based on that evaluation, SCHPG and SCEP only recognize the maximum benefit of each income tax position that is more than 50% likely to being sustained. To the extent that all or a portion of the benefits of an income tax position are not recognized, a liability would be recognized for the unrecognized benefits, along with any interest and penalties that would result from disallowance of the position. Should any such penalties and interest be incurred, they would be recognized as operating expenses. Based on the results of management's evaluation, no liability is recognized in the accompanying balance sheet for unrecognized income tax positions. Further, no interest or penalties have been accrued or charged to expense as of September 30, 2023 and 2022 or for the years then ended. SCHPG and SCEP's tax returns are subject to possible examination by the taxing authorities. For federal income tax purposes the tax returns essentially remain open for possible examination for a period of three years after the respective filing deadlines of those returns.

Mental Health - young adults, especially single parent households

Facility 1, Stephens County Hospital - Part V, Line 5

To identify the health needs of the community, the CHNA Partners established a comprehensive method of accounting for all available relevant data, including community input. The basis of identification of community health needs was the weight of qualitative and quantitative data obtained when assessing the community. Surveyors conducted interviews and focus groups with individuals representing public health, community leaders/groups, public organizations, and other providers. In some communities, supplementary qualitative data was included. In addition, quantitative data collected from several public sources was benchmarked against a state value to indicate the level of need.

Public health indicators were used to assess community health needs from a quantitative data perspective. This included collection of 129 data elements grouped into 11 categories and evaluated for the counties where data was available. A benchmark analysis was conducted to determine the public health indicators that demonstrated a community health need from a quantitative perspective. Benchmark health indicators included (when available): overall U.S. values and state of Georgia values.

Once the community benchmark was set to the state value, it was determined which indicators for the community did not meet the state benchmarks. This created a subset of indicators for further analysis. A need differential analysis was conducted to understand the relative severity of need for these indicators. The need differential established a standardized way to evaluate the degree each indicator differed from its benchmark. Health community indicators with need differentials above the 50th percentile were ordered by severity; the highest ranked indicators were the top health needs from a quantitative perspective. The outcomes of the quantitative data analysis were compared to the qualitative data findings.

In addition to analyzing quantitative data, the facilitator collected qualitative data via a variety of sources to gather the input of persons representing the broad interests of the communities served throughout the region. Input from over 500 people was included in the assessment via several different approaches. For the community served by Stephens County Hospital, one (1) focus group session with nine (9) participants and four (4) interviews were conducted March through April 2019. A list of the organizations providing input can be found in Appendix B of the CHNA. Summary findings from the focus groups and interviews can be found in Appendix C of the document.

The CHNA process was facilitated by IBM Watson Health.
